

CHEAT SHEET KIATTUA

Open for just four months of the year, from the time of the midnight sun to the first glimmers of the aurora borealis, Nomad Greenland, transcends time and space.

Wedged between the oldest mountains in the world, and its second-largest fjord system, with no roads, no houses and just 10 guests at a time, journey with us to the edge of the earth.

HOW TO GET HERE

THROUGH ICELAND

You can fly direct to Nuuk from Reykjavik, which takes approx. 3.5 hours. The flights on this route are operated by Icelandair or Air Greenland. During summer, there is flight most days of the week.

THROUGH DENMARK

With daily flight in summer, you can go from Copenhagen to Kangelrussuaq in 4.5 hours. A connecting flight gets you to Nuuk in 45-minutes.

FROM NUUK TO KIATTUA

On arrival in Nuuk, you'll be met by your private Nomad Host who will check you have everything you need before setting off for the camp. As you settle in to the 90-minute, RIB boat ride* through forests of ice, the mental clutter of modern life gradually fades away and the wonder of nature takes hold.

*OPTIONAL TRANSFER

Closed boat or the 25-minute helicopter ride

ARCTIC SOLITUDE

Situated 80 kilometers deep into the world's second-largest fjord system, Kiattua is accessible only by boat or helicopter.

With no roads, no houses, and the nearest village two days walk away, life at Kiattua slows to a glacial pace, and nothing stands between you and a jaw-dropping Arctic landscape.

Limited to 10 guests at a time to secure an exclusive and personal experience

COMFORT DESPITE THE WILDERNESS

All activities are individually adjusted to meet interest and fitness level.

SHORT SEASON

Kiattua is set up deep in the wilderness every May and will vanish without a trace at the end of September. Giving a season of barely four months.

We are ready to welcome the first guest the second week of June and will start to get ready for winter when the last guest leaves after the last week of September.

SLEEPING TENT

Wake up rested and ready for the day's adventure is of great importance!

The tent comes with a 22 cm deep luxury allergy-friendly mattress with pressure-relieving memory foam. The beds are in size 90x200 cm and can be set up as single or double beds.

- Two duvets per Person
- One pillow per person
- Electric heating blanket
- Two towels and a bathrobe pp
- Snacks and water
- Sleeping mask
- Two small tables
- Chairs
- Electric heater
- Insect repellent
- Baskets for storage
- Furs, Candle and fairy lights

BATH TENT

Each sleeping tent has its own separate bath tent, situated 4-8 meters away.

The bath tent has the facilities you will find in a modern bathroom; the only difference is that it is in a tent! A hot shower with a 60 liters water heater, a flushing toilet, and a sink. And wrapped in a simple but cozy atmosphere.

DINING

The dining tent has a built-in kitchen, allowing guests to observe and participate as the chef creates fresh, gourmet meals.

Hosted by some of the region's best chefs, Kiattua prides itself on serving gourmet meals inspired by local ingredients. Often, we forage for wild berries, mushrooms and herbal teas ourselves; pristine fish and seafood is caught just off camp in the fjord; and local hunters supply reindeer and muskox.

We also serve premium spirits, boutique wines from Denmark's premier winery, and craft beer from a small brewery in Nuuk, but if you can't live without something special, you can pre-order from a list of international wines, champagnes and spirits ahead of your stay.

We can serve 10 eating guests at once.

MEALS

Breakfast buffet:

Whenever you want it, but always a hearty buffet including fresh bread, pancakes, homemade jams, cheese board, smoked fish, sausages, fresh fruit, yogurt, cereal, eggs, bacon, coffee, teas, and infusions.

Lunch example:

Grilled musk ox hot dog wrapped in bacon with chutney, soft-fried onions, marinated fresh cucumber salad, lettuce, French fries, and dip with Labrador Tea.

One day this could also be a traditional BBQ at an ancient burial ground overlooking the ice fjords. At traditional Inuit camps, flat rocks were often used instead of frying pans to cook over the fire.

Dinner example:

Starter: Smoked halibut with salad and cucumber or Snow crab bisque with crab meat and garlic oil

Main menu: Grilled catfish with cauliflower, lemon blanquet, and citrus herbs or Greenland halibut jaws served with roasted potatoes, puréed celery root from chiffon, and parsley foam.

Dessert: White and dark chocolate mousse with Greenlandic rhubarb

THE NAME

Places in Greenland are named after their characteristics, the Inuits decided to call this place “Kiattua or Kiagtua” which is the word for “the warm place.”

Kiattua is this place - a warm and comfortable base from which to explore a land untouched by human hand.

EARLIER INHABITANTS

Due to the excellent hunting and foraging conditions and the easy access to the ocean, the bay has been inhabited for hundreds of years. Both the Thule Eskimos and the Vikings roamed this area, and within 50 m from the camp, you will find remains of both Inuit and Viking ruins.

The Vikings lived in Greenland for 450-500 years, from 985 to 1450-1500.

CLEANING

All tents are cleaned every day; this is done during the hours when the clients are out for adventures. Sheets, towels, and bathrobes are kept the same every day unless the guest asks for it differently.

EVENING ROUTINE

During the client's dinner, the tent is prepared for the night. This means that all lights and candles are lit, we fire up the heaters and turn on the heating blankets. In this way, the tents are nice and warm when the clients return to their tents for the night.

SNACKS

Every day we provide a bottle of water and snacks in the tents, typically consisting of chocolate, various nuts, and dried fruits. In the dining tent, there is always coffee, tea, soft drinks, beer, wine, or drinks.

GLACIER WATER

No leaks are to be found nearby the camp, this means that all water runs into the two rivers encircling the camp from the glaciers above the camp.

The kitchen and the toilets all have running water, both hot and cold.

ELECTRICITY

All tents are equipped with electricity.

The standard voltage is 230 V, and the frequency is 50 Hz. You can use your electric appliances if the standard voltage in your country is between 220 - 240 V (as is in the UK, Europe, Australia and most of Asia and Africa).

HEATING

All sleeping and toilet tents have electric heat fans and electrical heating blankets for the beds.

Besides, this you will find two duvets in each bed, and extra blankets can be provided.

WASTE

All non-organic waste from the camp is brought back to Nuuk and goes to the incinerator.

Organic waste is collected separately and given back to nature and recycled in the food chain. Wastewater runs out in the dry well. Therefore, we only allow organic soap in the camp.

MOSQUITOES

With no lakes and no swamps in the area, we experience fewer mosquitoes than in the rest of the fjord. Despite effective insect traps, it is not possible to avoid mosquitoes and spiders.
(We refuse to use poison)

All tents are equipped with quality insect repellent, after-bite/ itching relief lotion, and mosquitos nets.

LUGGAGE

When guests arrive or leave Kiattua the staff will bring the luggage to and from the pontoon bridge to the tent.

We recommend traveling relatively light and to pack in waterproof suitcases or duffel bags.
